

WHAT DO I READ NEXT: USING THE INTERNET TO FIND THE PERFECT BOOK

COMPILATION SITES

Morton Grove Public Library Webrary (<http://www.webrary.org/rs/rslinks.html>): A collection of websites for book lovers created by librarians at the Morton Grove Public Library.

101 Book Blogs You Need to Read (<http://www.onlineuniversities.com/blog/2009/10/101-book-blogs-you-need-to-read/>): A collection of book blogs broken down by category.

SOCIAL MEMBERSHIP NETWORKING SITES

Library Thing (<http://www.librarything.com>): Allows you to catalog books you've read and use them to find similar books to read.

Good Reads (<http://www.goodreads.com>): Similar to Library Thing. Includes a Monthly email newsletter.

Fictfact (<http://www.fictfact.com>): Allows you to track series fiction.

GENERAL SITES

What Should I Read Next (<http://www.whatshouldireadnext.com>): Enter a book you like and the site will suggest what you should read next.

Overbooked (<http://www.overbooked.org>): Annotated booklists.

Paper Cuts (<http://papercuts.blogs.nytimes.com>): New York Times book blog. Includes a weekly podcast on the New York Times Book Review.

Flashlight Worthy (<http://www.flashlightworthybooks.com>): Quirky but interesting booklists.

By The Book (<http://mgplbythebook.blogspot.com>): Book news and reviews from the Morton Grove Public Library.

Blogging for a Good Book (<http://bfgb.wordpress.com>): Book suggestions from the Williamsburg Regional Library.

Speakeasy (<http://blogs.wsj.com/speakeasy/category/books/>): Book blog from the Wall Street Journal. Also includes sections for other media such as television and film.

MYSTERIES

The Mystery Reader (<http://www.themysteryreader.com>): Mystery reviews.

Stop You're Killing Me (<http://www.stopyourekillingme.com>): Resource for mystery lovers. Indexes by author, character names, time periods, places occupations etc.

Mystery Fanfare (<http://mysteryreadersinc.blogspot.com>): Mystery news blog.

Reviewing the Evidence (<http://www.reviewingtheevidence.com>): Reviews of new mysteries.

HISTORICAL FICTION

Historical Fiction Network (<http://www.histfiction.net>): Indexes historical novels by author and time period.

Historical Novels Info (<http://www.historicalnovels.info>): Over 5000 historical novels listed by time and place.

Passages to the Past (<http://www.passagestothepast.com>): Historical Fiction blog, includes author interviews and book give aways.

Reading the Past (<http://readingthepast.blogspot.com>): News, views and reviews of historical fiction.

ROMANCE

Romantic Times Book Reviews (<http://www.rtbookreviews.com>): News and reviews of romance novels.

The Romance Reader (<http://www.theromancereader.com>): Romance Reviews.

All About Romance (<http://www.likesbooks.com>): More Romance novel reviews and news.

SCIENCE FICTION AND FANTASY

The SF Site (<http://www.sfsite.com>): Science Fiction and Fantasy news and reviews

Fantastic Fiction (<http://fantasticfiction.co.uk>): Bibliographies for over 30,000 authors. Note this is a British site.

Locus Online (<http://www.locusmag.com>): The website for Locus Magazine.