The Westfield Memorial Library has just released the Strategic Plan for 2011-14. Entitled “Collaboration and Connection: Engaging the Community,” the plan is the result of work on the part of community members, library staff and board members. Its purpose is to help guide the Board of Trustees in setting priorities over the next few years given the economic realities that all municipal agencies face today.

To define a shared vision and mission for the library, community input was sought out via a series of focus groups and an online survey. A total of 111 people attended the focus groups that were led by Library Development Solutions, and over 200 people took the survey. Participants were recruited through requests from library board members, information in the local press and sign-up sheets in the library. Staff members contacted library users, non-users, readers and non-readers and invited them to participate.

The three goals that will guide the Board for the next three years include engaging the community with modern, responsive services, diverse collections, and patron-friendly policies; delivering up-to-date information and resources to increase awareness and use of the library and to secure the library’s role as an essential part of Westfield life; and connecting with the community in an easy-to-use facility and with current technology.

Phil Israel, library Director, said, “I want to thank everyone in the community who participated in the process to help create the plan. With this plan in place, the Library Board and I feel confident that the Westfield Memorial Library will continue to provide outstanding services to the residents of Westfield.” View the plan on the website under the “About Us” tab, or visit the Reference Desk and ask for a copy.
The newly formed Westfield Memorial Library Foundation continues to do great things for the library. Over the winter, the Foundation, the Digiplex Rialto Theatre of Westfield and the Mayo Performing Arts Center of Morristown collaborated on an exciting new project to bring the Kidtoons Family Matinee series to the Rialto over the weekends.

Designed to bring inexpensive, quality G-rated entertainment to families with young children, the Family Matinee series took off with popular films like “The Little Engine that Could” and “Olivia.”

To strengthen the relationship between Digiplex and the Foundation, Bud Mayo, founder and chief executive of Digiplex Destinations donated $500. Roger Sullivan, president of the Foundation, called the donation a gesture of good will.

The Foundation and Digiplex have discussed future collaborations at the Rialto, both in terms of local cultural events and fundraising for the library. The Foundation was formed last fall when a group of private citizens realized that the efforts of a non-profit, fundraising group were essential to helping the library maintain the high level of service that we provide.
Scholarship Winners Announced

The Friends are pleased to announce the two winners of the 2011 Future Librarian Scholarship. They are Deborah Blum and Kellie Walsh, both of whom were recipients last year and who will be reawarded scholarships for the coming academic year at Rutgers University School of Library and Information Science. They will earn a Master of Library Science degree, with Deborah graduating in the spring of 2012; Kellie in 2013. Congratulations to both!

Share the Warmth

A group of "Friends" have been meeting once a month since January to knit and crochet 12" squares, which will be sewn into blankets. All will be donated to Camp Happy Times, a camp for children with cancer, which meets in August. We hope to continue working on our projects during June, July and August so that we may bring hope, cheer and warmth to the campers. We welcome new members, as well as donations, so that we can provide as many blankets as possible. All material must be acrylic. Please join us! Contact us at friendsofwml@gmail.com for more information.

More Amazing News from the Friends!

The Friends 2011 Book Sale was hugely successful (over $18,000 raised!) due in large part to a wonderful group of volunteers who worked tirelessly with their hearts and backs and spirit. A few folks to thank in addition are the Westfield Board of Education who donated the use of tables for the display of the books, the Westfield Department of Public Works who transported tables and bookcases to and from the sale, the library staff who supported the Friends in every way including the use of their lunch room, the Westfield High School National Honor Society for sending over 21 of their members to volunteer and last, but certainly not least, the members of the community who donated books and who shopped in support of their library. The Friends of the Library Board and the Book Sale Committee send a heartfelt thanks to all. And in other news...Since the Museum Pass Program kicked off in April 2008, over 2,000 passes have been borrowed, serving over 8,000 patrons. Every year the number of people visiting our 18 museums has increased: in 2008 we averaged 40 passes signed out per month, in 2009, 54 per month and in 2010, 64 per month. If you or your children have spinal curvature or scoliosis, this program can help you find relief with yoga poses. It is presented by Kim Ellner, who is certified in Yoga for Scoliosis, Yoga for Osteoporosis and in Hatha and Kripalu yoga.

Ms. Ellner was born with developmental dysplasia of the hip and underwent numerous months of body casting as an infant to treat this condition. Following that, she wore leg braces. At 13, she was diagnosed with scoliosis and wore a Milwaukee brace for several years to control her “S” curve. In 2001, she found yoga and immediately felt its positive affects on her chronically aching back. Since then, Ms. Ellner has avidly studied and taught yoga, using her personal experiences of body awareness, compassion and inner strength, learned throughout her childhood treatments, to further her students’ practice. Please dress comfortably as we will be trying out poses.

Let’s Discuss Their Eyes Were Watching God by Zora Neale Hurston at the Fiction Book Club on Wednesday, June 15  7:00 pm

One of the most important works of twentieth-century American literature, Zora Neale Hurston's beloved 1937 classic, Their Eyes Were Watching God, is an enduring Southern love story sparkling with wit, beauty, and heartfelt wisdom. Told in the captivating voice of a woman who refuses to live in sorrow, bitterness, fear, or foolish romantic dreams, it is the story of fair-skinned, fiercely independent Janie Crawford, and her evolving selfhood through three marriages and a life marked by poverty, trials and purpose. A true literary wonder, Ms. Hurston's masterwork remains as relevant and affecting today as when it was first published —perhaps the most widely read and highly regarded novel in the entire canon of African American literature. Learn All About The Golden Age of Broadway Musicals Wednesday, June 29  7:00 pm

This evening Allen Cohen surveys the history of the American musical, focusing on the period of 1943 to 1964, during which most of the great musicals were produced. He discusses what made the great musicals great, why the golden age came to an end, and what factors might bring about a new golden age.

Mr. Cohen has conducted or written dance music for six musicals on Broadway, and played keyboards or rehearsal piano for dozens of others. He has also conducted shows off-Broadway, in regional theaters, and on tours around the United States and the world. His musical “The Medicine Show” was produced at the Annenberg Center in Philadelphia, and he contributed songs to the off-Broadway revue “The Present Tense.” He has also written the music for two off-Broadway plays, four films, and dozens of radio and television commercials. A member of the Board of Directors of the League of Composers in New York, he has received a Meet the Composer grant and several ASCAP Plus awards, and his classical pieces for orchestra, solo instruments, chamber groups, and voice have been presented around the world. Currently he is Associate Professor of Music at Fairleigh Dickinson.
